THE STORY SO FAR...

DSE are busy editing THE GRAPHIC NOVEL MAN: THE COMICS OF BRYAN TALBOT, but we would like to grab a moment to thank Dave, Colin and Rick at THE SHEFFIELD SPACE CENTRE [www.space-centre.co.uk] for providing stunning archive photographs of Bryan's signing tour for the first volume of THE ADVENTURES OF LUTHER ARKWRIGHT. Special thanks goes to Ambi Boissevain for providing rare photographs of her late mother and father, Henriette and Serge Boissevain. I'm sure readers will know that Henriette and Serge were the founders of PSSST!: the groundbreaking magazine which collected the existing LUTHER ARKWRIGHT chapters previously published in NEAR MYTHS and then showcased new ARKWRIGHT material. With the sad demise of PSSST! the Boissevains went on to support Bryan for two years in the style of Victorian patrons enabling him to complete his vision of THE ADVENTURES OF LUTHER ARKWRIGHT as Britain's first Graphic Novel.

DSE are genuinely thrilled on a daily basis by the opportunity of working with and personally 're-discovering' the hidden grandeur of Bryan's original artwork which has never been presented in this kind of close-up detail before, and is used to lavishly illustrate Bryan's creative approach. We feel fans and first time readers are in for a real treat because with the release of THE GRAPHIC NOVEL MAN: THE COMICS OF BRYAN TALBOT they will be able to appreciate Bryan's unique approach to sequential storytelling in a new and exciting way through a combination of digital technology and the informed commentary of industry professionals.
